

Relationship between Youth's Involvement in Foster Care Transition Planning and Self-Concept

Results of a survey of 348 young adults ages 18-21 who had aged-out of foster care.

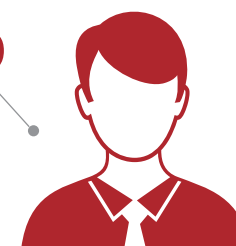

51% were involved in their plan

25% had NO plan

9% had a plan but were not involved

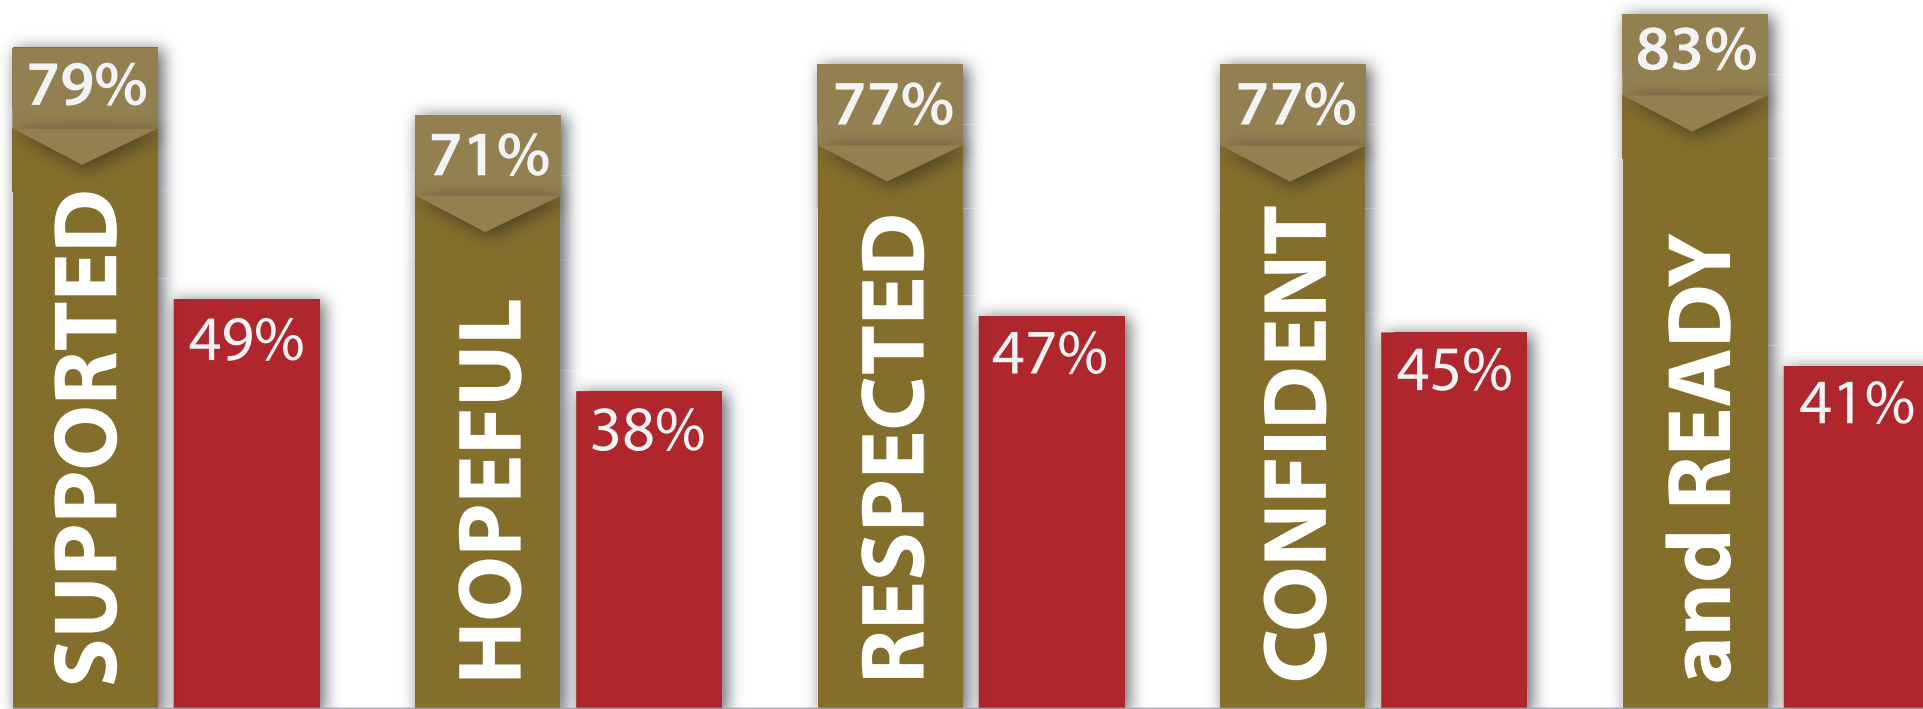

15% were involved but not satisfied

49%

Involving youth in planning does make a difference.

Youth involved in developing their transition plan were more likely to feel ...

... than those who were not involved in planning.

Isn't this what we want for all young people?
